

Winner of the New Writers Logline Competition 2026

The Contaminant

by Claudia Plamadeala

In a sterile future where emotion is outlawed, touch is illegal and faces must stay hidden, two scientists secretly implant their son with forbidden memories of the old world. Hunted as a contaminant, he carries the one thing the system tried to erase: the memory of love.